Here, at DPS we not only focus on the academic development of the child but also work on the development of the child's inner strengths. Areas like motivation, optimism, moral values are generally kept aside from the core curriculum, but we assume it to be, as important as academics are for any child. We try to build up self-confidence in the child to prepare him/her for any obstacles in his/her near future.

MESSAGE FROM THE VICE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

A School is not just a building, or just a group of classrooms with children in them. A School is not just reading, writing and arithmetic. My definition of the word "SCHOOL" is more of a concept. It is the interaction of hundreds of different people with a common goal... "educating children to their highest level of ability", but the term "education" is not just learning content, facts and processes, but how to be successful in life. Delhi Public School is such a concept. Everyone involved in the school gets the pleasure to work on projects to ensure that students are successful in life. Teachers and staff operate the location, and deliver instructions in a myriad of different subjects ranging from reading to the arts, and to the developing of a good character. Many schools cannot boast about this kind of multi-dimensional support that we provide at Delhi public school.

Best Wishes,
